

Lowering healthcare costs through data and resource integration

Care management made smarter

We support treating the whole person, not just the condition

There are many ways to approach cost-of-care containment in the workplace. Our specialty is working with you to put your resources to best use. We support treating the whole person, not just the condition. That's why E4 Care Coordination also works with our EAP and Wellness programs to address emotional, psychological, and physical co-morbidities, while working with the individual to direct behaviors toward positive outcomes.

E4 Care Coordination applies smart population health analytics and science-based risk stratification to focus limited organizational resources where they will have the greatest, measurable impact.”

—Tom Sawyer, Ph.D., Sr. VP Clinical Strategy

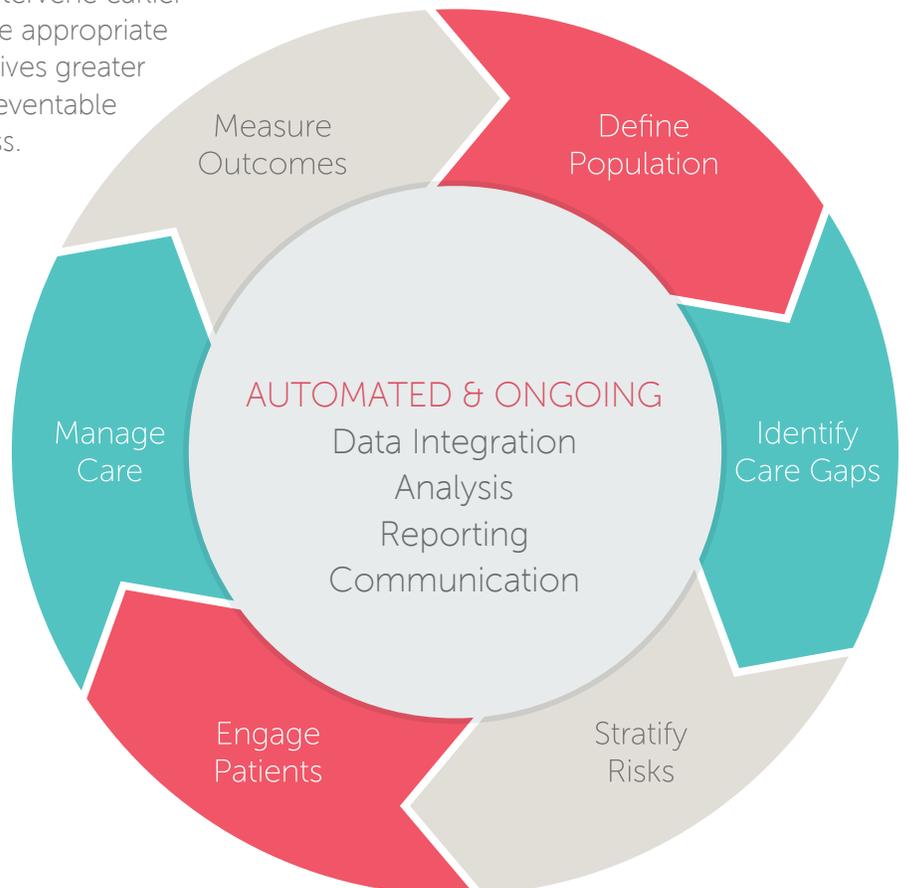

Although our technology is strategic, one aspect certainly isn't rocket science—early detection of population health risks lowers total cost-of-care. But before the appropriate resources can be mobilized, they must be identified. When your program can focus on more than just the health condition, and incorporate supporting resources to establish optimum total wellness, your organization can expect measurable results. E4 Health knows that care management is an on-going, coordinated approach—not a one-time initiative. We'll help you set it in motion.

Our Methodology:

By incorporating leading indicator psychosocial data in the identification of risk, we can intervene earlier to reduce health risk and facilitate the appropriate alignment of care. This advantage drives greater opportunity to reduce overuse of preventable medical services and productivity loss.

Core Program Features:

- Data warehousing/mining of Assessments and claims information
- Population stratification and outreach based on acuity score
- High touch—high tech implementation model and program support
- Treatment decision support
- Care gap messaging
- Care management
- Supportive counseling, coaching, and resources to address co-morbidities

Three core services. One integrated platform.

Introducing HealthMap™. Now you can seamlessly administer your E4 Health core offerings, as well as manage processes, analytics, and reporting through our comprehensive, integrated HealthMap platform.

Our Foundation: The 4 E's

Built on our HealthMap platform, our model is based on a sequence of critical activities that improves our ability to reach, assess, and individually treat employees in a way that impacts positive, lasting change.

EVALUATE: Identify the issues and opportunities.

ENGAGE: Target the right people at the right time.

EMPOWER: Use tools and medium appropriately.

EFFECT: Make a measurable, lasting difference.
